Dear Mr. Steer,

I recently had the opportunity to learn more about the mission and programs of the Canadian Ecology Centre. I was particularly impressed with your educational programs introducing the latest technology of mapping and geo-positioning to your students and target audience. These technologies are fundamental for everyone managing and using our natural resources. You have been able to introduce maps and GPS as a key tool for people of all ages and as such contributed to greater safety of all involved and to a more sustainable environment.

Our institute would certainly welcome a short article about your activities in our journal "Geomatica",

Yours truly,

Jean Thie, MSc. Eur Ing
